This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Titel. - Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject Orientalism / Sinology - Japanology, printed single-sided, grade: 1 (A), Kyushu University (International Student Center), course: Pop culture in Japan, 38 entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: From drawings of children and adults with big round eyes, stuffed furry animals, girly glittery colors to computers and vacuum-cleaners to fall in love with, technical goods as accessories and appliances to cuddle, cuteness is everywhere in Japan. Japan is the country of cuteness. Especially with the female half of the population, everything that is 'kawaii' (cute) is wanted. According to the magazine 'CREA' (in Nov 1992 p. 58): The word 'kawaii' (=cute) is said to be 'the most widely used, widely loved, habitual word in modern living Japanese'. Why do cute things seem to be more successful in Japan than elsewhere in the world Why are things perceived as 'cute' Why do sensible and normal adults fall for little pink big-headed saucer-eyed characters What are the requisites in society that enable that success What is Hello Kitty and why is...
